

Julian Mack – Changing the world one headline at a time

I'm an investigative journalist with over two decades of experience. I've covered both Milan's fashion week and the U.S. primaries in the same year. Above all, I believe that fair and free press is fundamental to a healthy society – the core ideal behind my work. I offer professional, unbiased, and timely articles, along with cited sources, and the highest regard for journalistic integrity you can find.

Get in touch

MY STRENGTHS

Ambition

I'm passionate about what I do, and never do and have the difficult conversations

Precision

I believe it's pointless to do something if you're not going to do it well.

Assertive

I'm not afraid to ask the difficult questions things half-heartedly.

MY EXPERIENCE

Political Columnist @ World Politics Digest

Jan 2018 - Present

I write political opinion pieces and reports on the U.S.'s most recent political events. My goal was and is to bring articles and news without partisan bias while offering insight and analysis.

On-Site Journalist @ Italian Fashion BTS

I walked the red carpet, spoke with designers, and provided in-depth insights on each participant's collections and their inspirations for the multiple fashion events taking place across Italy.

EDUCATION

Oxford University

MA in Journalism 1998 - 2000

Bath University

BA of Sociology and Politics 1996 - 1998